

Sea Duty For Lieutenant Brittain.

The friends of Lieut. Carlo B. Brittain, U. S. Navy, will be glad to learn that he has a prospective tour of sea duty, which will be most interesting and instructive and may become notable. The President has, for special reasons, requested Rear Admiral Eads to take command of all our war ships in Atlantic waters. Admiral Eads recently commanded the Atlantic fleet and put it on a splendid fighting basis. He is considered the ablest officer in the U. S. Navy and it was, no doubt, this consideration which prompted the President to place Admiral Eads in command of the Atlantic fleet, comprising, as it does, the main part of the whole navy. To begin with, there is the squadron of eight battleships, to which perhaps as many more will be added before Admiral Eads relinquishes command, the armored cruiser squadron of four new 14,000-ton cruisers of 21 knots speed, and splendid batteries, to which two more will be added within the year. There are two other cruiser squadrons, composed of six fighting cruisers, the Olympia and Brooklyn and the newer cruisers of the Denver class; there are four coast defense monitors and two training squadrons, all composed of fighting ships. With half a hundred warships and the collier supply ships and smaller fry, Admiral Eads will have a fleet far exceeding in power any that the United States has ever heretofore assembled. Among the officers who are to accompany Admiral Eads on his personal staff and assist in the management of this powerful fleet, we see the name of Lieut. Carlo B. Brittain, and with a high degree of pride, for he has been practicing the whole navy from which to choose his staff, and it is a compliment to any officer to have been selected as his aide.

One does not know what the next three years will bring forth. With the launching of the new battleships, the doctrine to uphold, the unsettled condition of affairs in several of the West Indian and Central and South American States, there is always the chance of trouble brewing for Uncle Sam. Under Admiral Eads is a host of two wars, and the recognized light of our sea forces, we may feel assured that our fleet is in a state to be "service at the front," or wherever there is "something doing," hence the good fortune of our Lieutenant from Madison county. Lieutenant Brittain will accompany the Admiral on his flagship, the Maine, and will undoubtedly have a cruise full of work and interest. He will leave his shore duty at Annapolis about six weeks hence, and will be two months away from home. He will have, moreover, in order to accept this most desirable sea duty. Lieutenant Brittain's last cruise was in the Philippines and China and we congratulate him and his wife, Miss Mamie Baldwin, also of Madison county, that this cruise is to be in home waters, when their separations need be but short ones. Mrs. Brittain will expect to meet her husband many visits at ports all the way from Annapolis to San Francisco, and his presence on the staff and flagship of the commander-in-chief will insure that her visits are made under the most pleasant auspices—Richmond Climax. Lieut. Brittain married a sister of Mrs. W. H. Shanks, of this place.

Incredible Brutality.

It would have been incredible brutality if Charles F. Lemberger, of Syracuse, N. Y., had not done the best he could for his suffering son. "My boy," he says, "got a fearful gash over his eye, so I applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which quickly healed it and saved his eye." All so good for burns and ulcers. Startling Mortality.

Statistics show startling mortality from appendicitis and peritonitis. To prevent and cure these awful diseases there is just one reliable remedy—Dr. King's New Life Pills. M. Flannery, of 14 Custom House Place, Chicago, says: "They have no equal for Constipation and Biliaryness." 25c at Penny's Drug Store.

The spots on the sun may possibly be advertisements, the face of the earth being already utilized.—Puck.

John—Why don't you take a wife? Janey—I'm afraid her husband would object.

THE INTERIOR JOURNAL

E. C. WALTON

WE ARE THIRTY-THREE TODAY.

Thirty-three years ago today, after repeated and unsuccessful attempts had been made to make a paper go in Stamford, Meigs, Hilton and P. J. Campbell issued the first number of the INTERIOR JOURNAL. Building wiser than they knew, they laid the foundation of an enterprise which was destined to live and become an important factor in the history and development of its section with varying measures of success. After three years, that is to say on the last of February, 1875, they sold the paper to Mr. W. P. Walton, then a youth with more money than newspaper experience, and with more ambition to gratify a long cherished hope to become an editor than practical knowledge of the business before him. With numerous other lads in the fire, the INTERIOR JOURNAL was for some time a severe drain on his pocket book, but really concentrating his endeavor, and with the assistance of his brother, Mr. T. R. Walton, he in good time made it a valuable property and a source of considerable revenue, besides making a reputation and standing for the paper.

Away back in the 80s, when the writer was a little boy, he came from his home in Virginia, which had been broken up by the death of his father, and while attending school in Stamford, "learned the cases" and got to be a fair type setter. The business was fascinating and we grew from one position to another till we held what we then considered the very high and important place of business manager, continuing as such till the purchase of the entire business in October, 1900.

Since that time we have labored day and night, in season and out of season to make the "CHEAPEST" the very "BEST" paper possible and how well we have succeeded in furnishing our patrons with a good, clean, worthy exponent of the excellent section it seeks to represent and advance, we leave a large, splendid and indelible contribution to judge. It has by a liberal and highly appreciated patronage especially decided in our favor and in recognition of it, we hereby renew our determination to maintain the high standard we have set for the INTERIOR JOURNAL and praise the best of the paper ever honored a paper with their assistance, that we shall spare no effort to make it in every way worthy of their confidence and support.

A NUMBER of prominent members of the G. A. R., who are more in evidence now in drawing pensions and denouncing every measure intended to prevent the granting of pensions to worthy persons, the best of the paper when the face of the country was under the abridgment of the sword, are protesting loudly against the return of the Southern battle flags. Brave soldiers have always been noted for their generosity towards their opponents and of all men in the world the surviving veterans of the Federal armies should be the first in urging a restoration of the souvenirs of the civil war to whom they are most precious. The soldier is for such restoration. The coffee coolers, camp followers and others of the G. A. R., who were worthless in war and barbed on the ship of prosperity and brotherly love in peace, will continue to howl themselves hoarse in opposition to anything that appears to their cowardly souls to smack of an act of friendly recognition of a foe, who, though fallen, are their superiors in every measure of man.

THE report comes from Washington that the inaugural ball people are much exercised over the rumor that Negroes will attend the function in large numbers and that the Negro women have prepared all manner of dirty for the occasion. There seems little need of getting excited, however. If Teddy could dine with a he-coon he ought to be able to dance with a doe down with a female coon. Let the fox proceed. No "door of hope" need be closed in the face of a coon, he be male or female.

It is now estimated that a sea level canal across the Isthmus of Panama will cost the government $230,000,000. A very large increase over the last estimate, which was a large increase over the previous estimate. If this thing keeps up the U. S. will have to go into bankruptcy, before it has proposed with the work. That is it has the usual lack of the average man who takes the benefit of the bankrupt law.

Ten Baltimore & Ohio railroad men are fast making good prosperity in the near future. Accordingly it has ordered 250 locomotives and 10,000 freight cars, which will cost over $12,000,000. It is to be hoped that its plans of coming events will begin at once to cast their shadows before.

If the Lexington dailies would devote more of their time in getting the news and improving their issues and less in lying about their circulation, they might get out papers that would be a credit to the capital of the Blue Grass.

The acquittal of Judge Swayne for robbing the government in the matter of expenses, seems to be an invitation to every little whippersnapper who travels at the expense of the government to get all that's in sight, which was hardly needed, since that appears to be the rule anyway. The House placed its seal of condemnation against Judge Swayne, but the republican majority in the Senate said by its vote "go thou and continue to steal from the government. It is everybody's right." All the same, it is a sad commentary on the judiciary department of the government that a judge should even be suspected of dishonesty. The appointments are for life and they of all men should be above suspicion.

THE dailies announce the death of Daniel Mitchell, of Richmond, in the Confederate Home, Powee Valley. This is the first death that has occurred there, though the institution has not been open but a year or two. It shows how fast the heroes of '61-'65 are passing away and gives evidence of how soon all of the dear old fellows will have crossed over the river to rest with Jackson "under the shade of the trees."

A BALTIMORE woman left $1 each to her ball boys, thus in a measure solving a very deplorable problem of humane duty.

The gubernatorial contest committee of the Colorado Legislature decided in favor of Peabody. Only 12 of the republicans on the committee would sign the report, however, while all nine democrats signed the minority report in favor of Adams.

To The Ladies.
I have just opened a Dress Making establishment at my home on Whitley Avenue, and will be pleased to call on the ladies of Stanford and vicinity. The "Vandine" system of cutting and fitting is followed. A splendid business. Everything in good repair and has all necessary outfit. The owner's only reason for selling is the rush of other business, as he has extensive farming interests to look after. This property is on the Hanging Fork about 4 miles from Stanford, and can be bought at a bargain. For further particulars, address S. C. Thurmond, Little, Ky., or L. B. Hughes, Stanford, Ky.

MASTIC MIXED PAINT

for painting houses. The reason's plain. Mastic is the purest, therefore the most durable and economical. There is a whole string of "other fellows" claiming "just as good as Mastic" but they don't prove it. Maybe they can't. The analysis of Mastic is published. It's made of pure lead, zinc and linseed oil—the most durable kind of paint—and its purity is therefore unquestioned.

As purity means durability, the splendid wearings of quality of Mastic have given it the title of "The King of Paints," and this title is backed up by our absolute guarantee. Mastic is made by PEASLEE & GAULBERT CO., Inc. LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY and we heartily recommend it to your trade.

COLLISION - A head-on collision between two freight trains occurred five miles south of Lebanon Wednesday morning. Two members of the crew of train No. 32 were killed and another badly injured. Clarence Ryan, engineer of No. 32, fell asleep at the throttle and the train, instead of stopping at Penick's according to orders to meet the northbound train, passed by the station at full speed and crashed into the northbound train about a mile beyond. Ryan had a shoulder and three ribs broken and was otherwise hurt. He jumped from his engine. Judd Anderson, fireman, and Charles Merriman, brakeman, were caught under the wreckage and instantly killed. Engineer Chappell saw No. 32 in time to bring his train almost to a standstill before the collision occurred. None of the crew of this train was injured. Chappell blew his whistle a number of times immediately before the crash and this was Ryan's first knowledge of the fearful danger into which his train was rushing. He called to Fireman Anderson, who was at the time shoving coal, and leaped from the engine as the trains came together. The destruction caught fire and burned fiercely, rendering it necessary to use assistance of the Louisville fire department. A special train with a fire engine and tank cars of water arrived shortly after and succeeded in cooling the wreckage so that the work of clearing it away and rebuilding the track could be begun. No. 23 was delayed several hours.

The weather is all right now. We hope it will continue so.

Champion Liniment For Rheumatism.

Chas. Drake, a mail carrier at Chapinville, Conn., says: "Chamberlain's Pain

Balm is the champion of all liniments.

The past year I was troubled a great deal with rheumatism in my shoulder. After trying several cures the shoe keeper here recommended this remedy and it completely cured me." There is no one of any suffering from that painful ailment

when this liniment can be obtained for a small sum. One application gives prompt relief and its continued use for

WINTER EATING RUINS STOM-

ACHS.

"Now is the Time You Need

Mi-o-na," Says Penny.

Think for a moment of the extra strain

you put upon the stomach in the Winter.

The hearty food, the late suppers and the lack of exercise and outdoor life all weaken and strain the stomach, laying the foundation for poor health and suffering.

Chronic stomach troubles, nervous irritability and serious bowel and kidney diseases have often dated from a week of extra "good living." Nearly everyone is bothered with more or less headaches and backaches, furred tongue, poor appetite, dry, hacking cough, heartburn, spots before the eyes, dizziness or vertigo,

sleeplessness, lack of energy, loss of flesh

or a general weak, tired feeling.

Now is the time when Mi-o-na is needed to repair the ravages and waste the hearty eating of Winter has caused in the stomach and digestive system. This is the only known agent that strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, so that they can and will readily digest whatever food is eaten. A Mi-o-na tablet taken before each meal will remove all irritation, inflammation and congestion in the digestive organs, and so strengthen them that they will extract from the food all that goes to make good rich blood, firm muscle and a sound, healthy body.

This remarkable remedy costs but 50c, and if it does not restore your full vigor, vitality and health, Penny, one of the best known druggists in this section, will refund your money. Unbounded faith like this deserves your confidence.

his faith grew stronger and stronger in the Lord, and he would appear, going to his heavenly home as though it was a little journey. He was conscious until the last, and his sweet warning to mother, sister and brother to meet him in heaven was beautiful indeed. Young men take warning. He was happy; he was just blooming into manhood. He was not dead in the full knowledge of what had come to his anxious soul, but for his loved ones he received so sweet peace and heart-rending memories, and so he found the Lord his burden-bearer. The dying eyes still recognized the faces of loved ones and his happy spirit winged its way to heaven.

It seemed such a little way to be,

across where Willie has gone.

The home of those he loved so dear.

As journeying friends bring distance near.

So close it lies when my sight is clear,

I think I see his bright face there.

With those he loved on earth so dear,

And the blessed Savior who said to him:

"Willie, come up here!"
